Ralph Moore is a retired millwright from Ford Motor Company and Rouge Steel. He is the author of, Uncle Henry's Ford Rouge, published in 2008, Welcome to Northern Michigan, USA, published in 2013, and his latest book, The Best Laid Plans, published in 2016. Moore, who now resides on the Upper Black River near Onaway, Michigan, is an avid outdoorsman and sports aficionado who has done everything he writes about. Moore will be reading humorous and entertaining stories, along with some of his own original poetry from each of these books and also taking any questions that the audience might have. Afterwards he will gladly sign copies for anyone wishing to purchase any of these books.
